

Transportation Opportunities for Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and Beyond

Explore Echo Global Logistics' Domestic Ocean solution to see how you can ship to major distributors outside of the lower 48.

Though domestic transportation typically refers to Rail, Truckload, or LTL, Echo's Domestic Ocean solution enables shipments to regularly move to farther destinations. Did you know that annually, an average of nearly 13 million tons of marine cargo is shipped to Hawaii? Just a few years ago, the volume of cargo handled in the ports of Puerto Rico was around 1.5 million twenty-foot equivalent units (TEUs). Echo's Domestic Ocean service, covering air and ocean, allows for this type of growth to occur.
